

THAT KIND OF LOVE

A kind message to humanity

BHIHOLU

There is virtually nothing or no one that is limited to expansion but it takes different cycles to fit in and LOVE understands

For the love of humanity

Written by Oluwabukunmi
Edith

TABLE OF CONTENTS

01

The pure basis of love

02

Me versus me

03

Struggles might be competitive but love is not

04

Cocoa, the cash crop

01 Piece 1: The pure basis of love.

02 Piece 2: Me versus me
- Ordinary mind
Vs outstanding mind

03 Piece 3: Struggles might be competitive but love is not
- Everyone has a part in restructuring the curvy love economy

04 Piece 4: Cocoa, the cash crop
- Lessons of love
from cocoa

Intro

That kind of love

INTRODUCTION

The human world,
A globe with different worlds,
That consists of dwellers with characters that will never be similar.
And whose individualism can never be related.

The human world,
A globe with different worlds,
Different worlds that represents different natures,
Natures built from mindsets
And mindsets cultivated by backgrounds, situations and environment.

The human world,
Our world that can still be a beautiful place to stay
If there is a true understanding that we are a world of MULTIPLE traits.

This human world, our world
That can be a beautiful place to stay,
If our differences can be bore in LOVE.

PIECE 1

The pure basis of love

Love can be pure

BHIHOLU

PIECE 1: THE PURE BASIS OF LOVE

Life has its way of redefining issues and has made most individuals an outcome of their experiences. But with all that it proves to be, there is still an actuality that the word 'limited' is not applicable to LOVE. It is that feeling that rises spontaneously like a hissing doughnut. It is a word that can't be hidden but expressively expressed. Though the world terms it to be curvy, to be a feeling expressed to just the one who cares but LOVE, exceeds choices. It is to be shown even when it is undeserving. It is genuine, pure, and can forever stay real.

Love in itself has so many shades which very few of its practical sides would be penned down. Kindly attach your string with mine, so we have a tightened pull towards defining
THAT KIND OF LOVE.

PIECE 2 |

Me versus me

---

The ordinary mind Vs
the outstanding mind

BHIHOLU

PIECE 2: ME VERSUS ME

Amero has three immediate actions to take and they are choices of words to speak, choices of services to render, and choices of clothes to put on. Below is a short illustration of what her mind speaks.

ORDINARY MIND

Words to speak: You filthy/good for nothing human. I wonder if you can handle anything properly.

Services to render: As long as it enriches my pocket, the prices will stay hyper-inflated and I will get half-baked materials for the production of the goods

Choice of clothes: This slip will suit the occasion perfectly. I would have it rocked with a short.

OUTSTANDING MIND

When I spill these words, I will be relieved of the heaviness in me but how would she feel? What if she breaks down? Well, I would mellow out, and gather my words properly.

Truly my goal is to make a profit but will the increments be comfortable for my customers?
I was paid dutifully for this, if the quality is needed, I would have it provided as wished for.

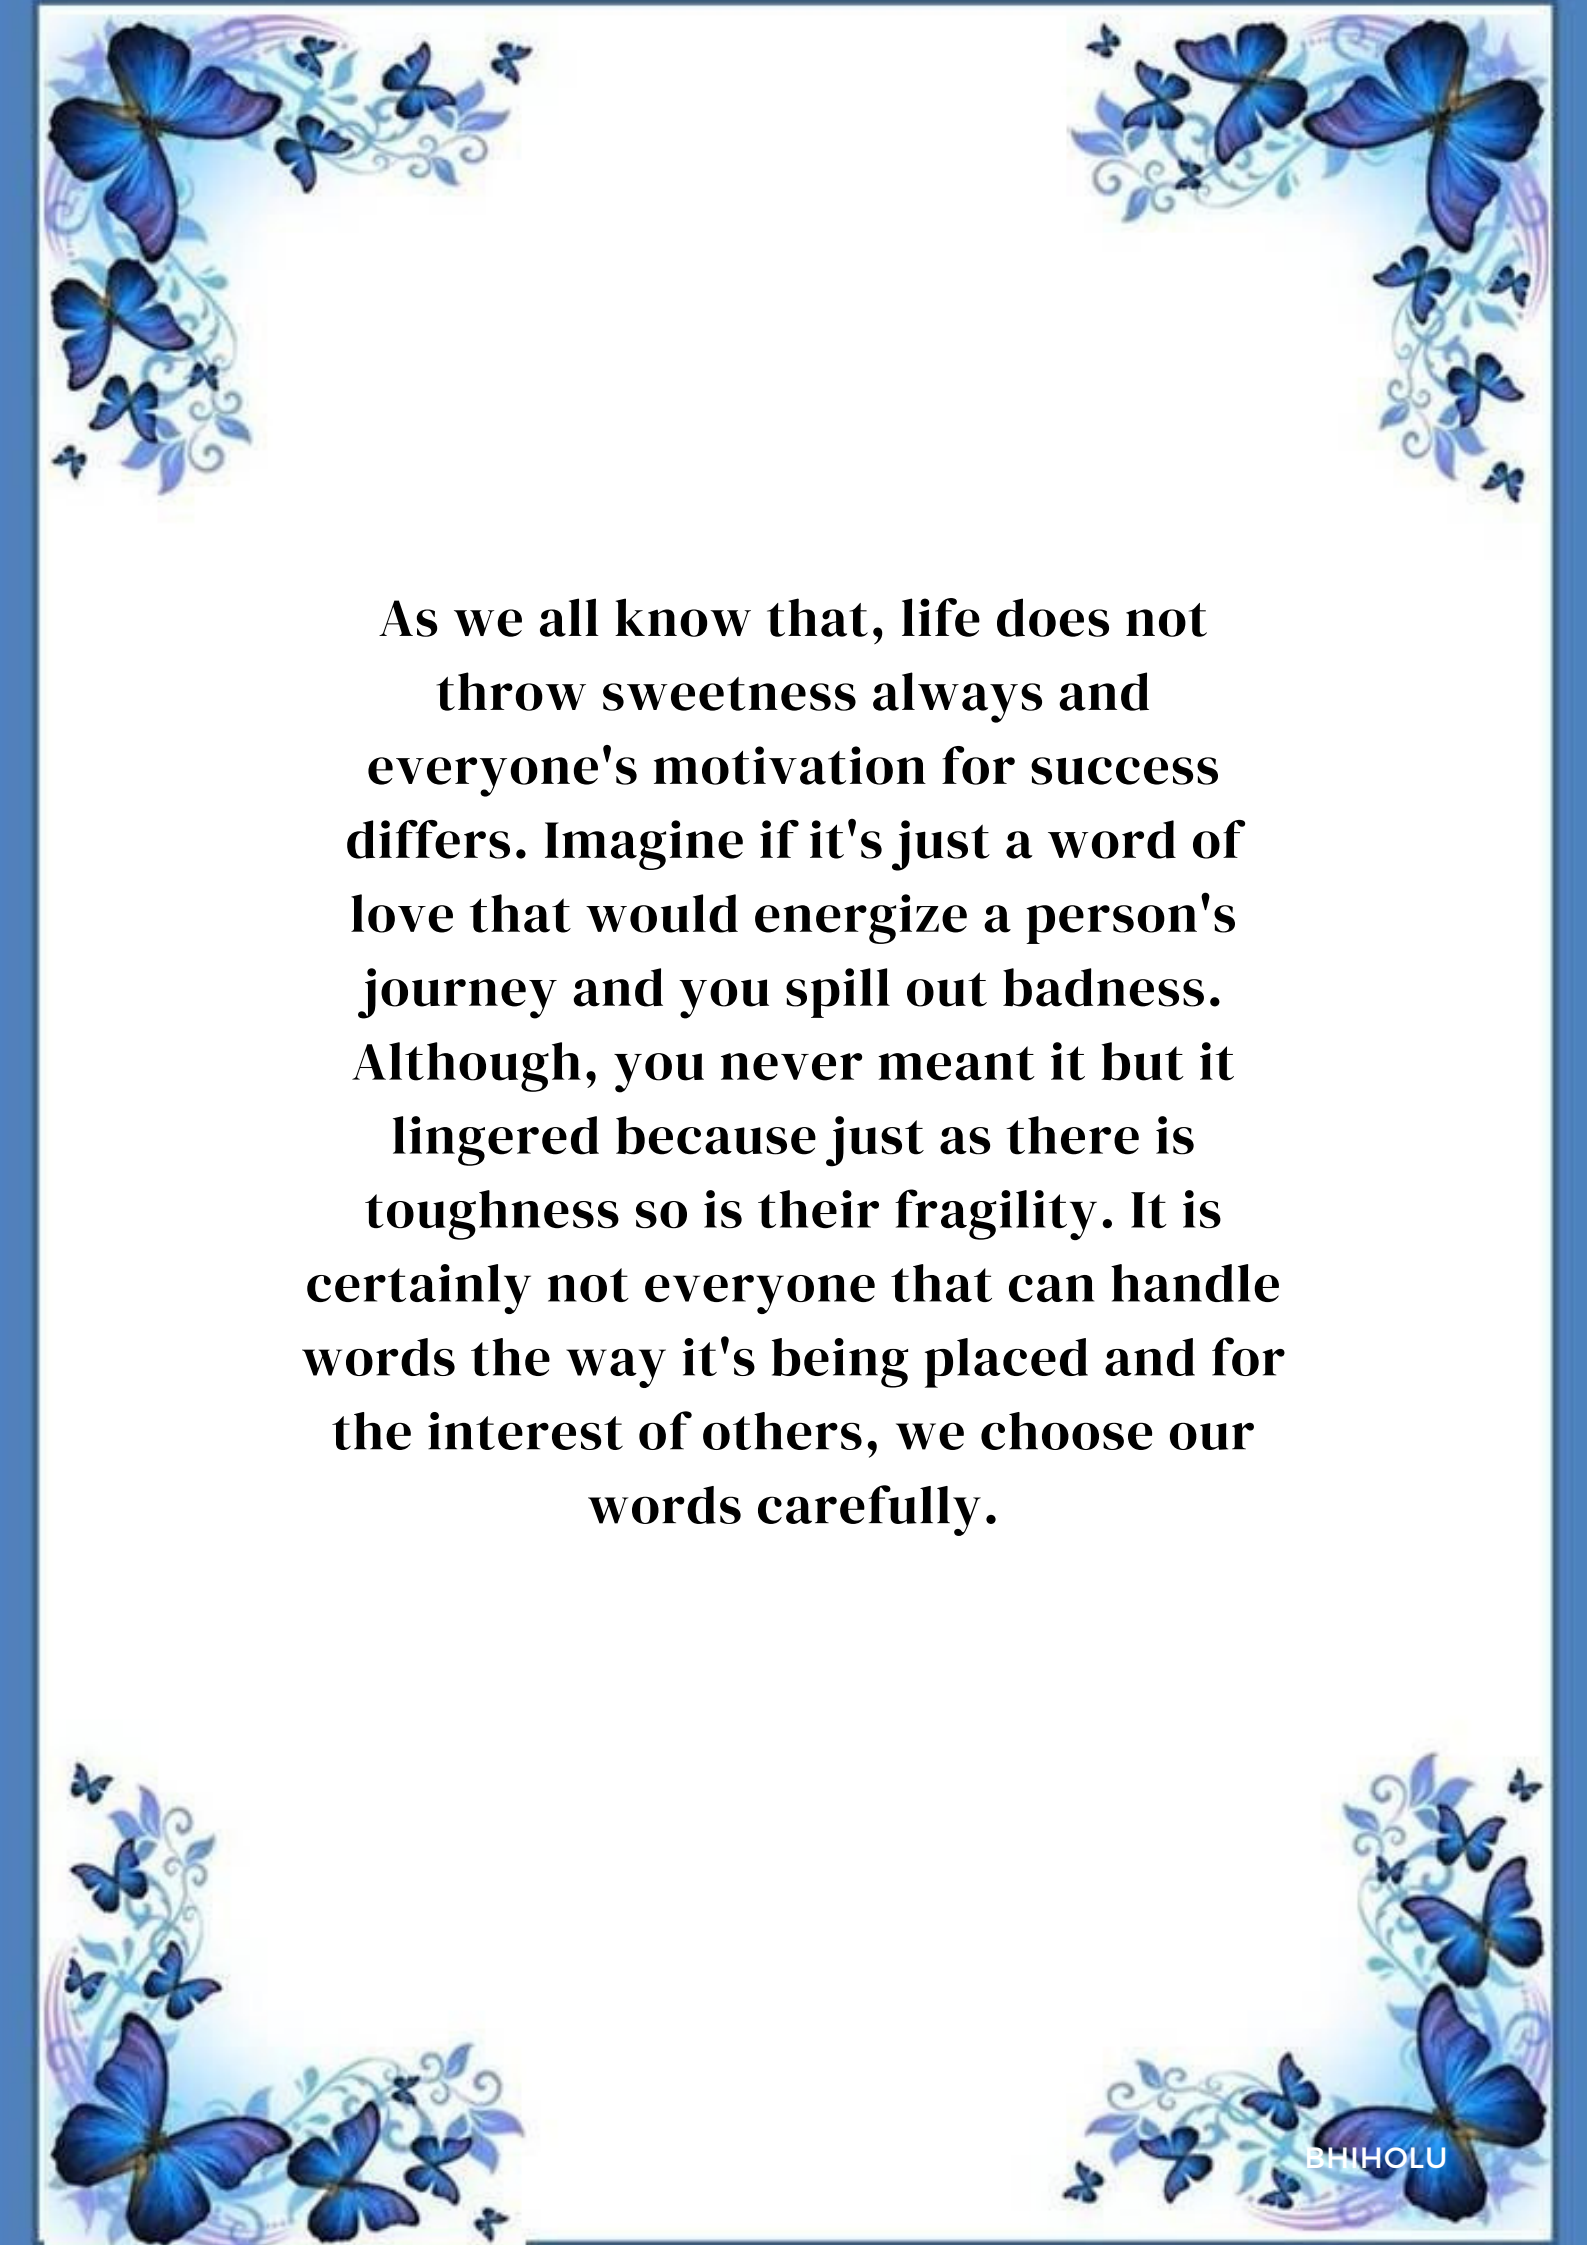

I so much love this dress but what kind of influence would it incite especially on the fast-growing teenagers? How would my society be helped with this?

The question of what concerns love with my desires and actions firstly dropped in me until I saw how effectively huge it was and is. Love is compassionate and in selection, everyone matters. Just like the illustration of Amero's mind. The first spoke about how her ordinary mind would have said the words exactly the way it was stinging. Yes, she was hurt and she could have held on to that but her outstanding mind understood that love is PATIENT and that she has to arrange the words KINDLY so they can be said GENTLY.

The page is framed by decorative illustrations of blue butterflies and floral patterns in each of the four corners. The butterflies are in various sizes and orientations, some appearing to fly towards the center. The floral patterns consist of light blue and purple vines with small leaves and flowers.

As we all know that, life does not throw sweetness always and everyone's motivation for success differs. Imagine if it's just a word of love that would energize a person's journey and you spill out badness.
Although, you never meant it but it lingered because just as there is toughness so is their fragility. It is certainly not everyone that can handle words the way it's being placed and for the interest of others, we choose our words carefully.

The page is framed by decorative illustrations of blue butterflies and floral patterns in each of the four corners. The butterflies are in various sizes and orientations, some appearing to fly towards the center. The floral patterns consist of light blue and purple vines with small leaves and buds.

Also, a second action Amero had to take was the services to render; no one would have her charged if her services are rendered for just her increment but the question of how comfortable it will be for her customers surfaced the desire. Besides her earnings, she chose not to have her integrity tainted. Regardless of her desire, she embraced that of others first.

In continuation to the exploration of Ameros mind, a short conversation between two young friends would be used and below is the teeny talk.

Seela: I was surfing through the internet yesterday and I came across this particular design. That same evening, I saw it on sister Raty. I do not have the accurate description of it but I love it! Wheley: “I am sure it must be the latest trend. She tossed a braid over her shoulder and concluded saying, Yo best, we definitely adorning ourselves with this.

(Chat halted).

Fascinating things in this present day are known to be easily catching especially to the fast-growing teenagers and fashion in this aspect tends to be more attractive. It is sometimes the lead of discussions during the general break time and often suspended to the study time. Amazingly, the talks wont exceed some glittering shoes or shiny outfit and they mostly wont give up until their maximum satisfaction is derived.

This fact that fashion is a visible liking of everyone especially, the teens, should make a person's choice of cloth considerably picked. That even beyond helping a child, it could help the society in diminishing sexual abuse and mens vulnerability to assault gals.

PIECE 3

Struggles might be competitive but love is not

---

Everyone has a part in restructuring the curvy love economy

BHIHOLU

PIECE 3: STRUGGLES MIGHT BE COMPETITIVE BUT LOVE IS NOT.

In each sector of an economy, there will always be some set of people who deal with homogeneous goods/ services while there will however be people whose disciplines differ. In whatever way it may seem to be, there are always similar objectives which link each individual and some of these are, profit maximization, affecting the economy and goal to be at number one position (of).

Indeed, it is a busy world where everyone works to be the best. Right from the nursery school setting, there had always been the ranking from A to Z and down to the tertiary institutions; there is the first class to pass. School authorities are not wrong for wanting to make every child excellent (exceptionally good of its kind) by birthing these rank but majority of students in the top have been nurtured with different mentality like, if you are not at the top, you would not be cared for. People of same profession now fetch unrest to the society because they feel profitable services cannot be rendered without pulling others down. Well, this may be true due to the structure of the economy but LOVE, refrains wrong view.

In respect to the diagram above, we could detect that, everyone has a part in restructuring the curvy love economy.

As individual, service providers, business owners, traders and as a nation, there has to be an understanding that, living is basically for everyone and the knowledge of achieving success should be based on the pure motive of love.

PIECE 4 |

Cocoa, the cash crop

---

It is very okay to admire a persons outgrowth but the basis of its admiration should be pure

BHIHOLU

PIECE 4: COCOA, THE CASH CROP

Its ranking as one of the leading agricultural exports of the country wont make it skip processes to titling it - chocolate. When in its first stage, it would be properly encouraged to go through the fermentation period and other cycles. During those processes, unwanted ingredients would be removed; it would be scrutinized to fit in the need of the society. Afterwards, it will be transported to meet with the targeted market and the comments gotten would be used in determining product rate and ingredients to be added in its next production date.

The comments received are not used to define the producers' capacity but to check out the exact need of the society. And to also get it prepared for the consumers pleasure.

Although, the word 'cocoa' cannot quantify the full potentially packaged human but the processes in this context is what would be craved.

FEW POINTS PICKED FROM THE COCOA ILLUSTRATION THAT CAN BE RELATED TO LOVE.

- 1. There is virtually nothing or no one that is limited to expansion but it takes different cycles to fit in and LOVE, understands that.
- 2. Beyond profit making, a great view that regards the need of everyone should be implemented. And this could be related to the common belief in Economics that says, utility is derived when the goods purchased are used by the final consumer.
- 3. There will be no huge output if the who of what, where and how to produce is not considered.
- 4. There should be an understanding that every of the services to be rendered are to benefit the nation.
- 5. People who do less should be encouraged to go through more and more (cocoa could have stayed the same but it was encouraged to go through all the production processes).

6. People who do better should be appreciated and supported.

7. The place of correction should not be overlooked. If cocoa was not scrutinized, it might have not ended up being the babys yum yum; it might have not ended up being the adults favorite study partner.

8. It is very okay to admire a persons outgrowth but the basis of its admiration should be pure. Every of the stages cocoa goes through will not be admired like the last stage.

And this last stage would not have been desirable if the processes were not introduced.

This simply states that, every successful person has one or two processes that was passed through, it is very okay to admire who they are but admire their strength and carefully rate your admiration in LOVE.

ABOVE ALL,
Knowing too much might be too-much but, with a little knowledge of the beauty in life, I am sure that a love being is a peaceful person. I know that a loveable society is a united one and I want to keep understanding that, whatever profession we hold should not shift our gazes from the true basis of living which is to help humanity. And every positive impact counts no matter how little it may be.
Keep influencing your world, someone definitely needs it!

About the author

Oluwabukunmi is a moral essayist whose love for humanity uplifts its beauty.

she owns a blog called, "Biholu.wordpress.com".

You can also contact her via the line, +234 906 557 0976

About the book

The human nature is beautiful yet mixed.

Mixed in the reason that, a person's regularities might be the greatest detest of another. But having dissimilar personalities can be maintained with the love of understanding.

That kind of love which is LARGE and can be generously shared among all.

